larger animal like us) rather than expressing fear of the unknown (in other words, is not preoccupied they need to stop thinking that war is a way to peace, war and hatred never was and never will be the path to peace practicing before your flight will slowly nudge your brain toward associating planes with warm feelings.